

The Tale of the Bamboo Cutter and Other Fantastic Stories

The Tale of the Bamboo Cutter was written by an unknown Japanese author around the tenth century AD. This beautiful tale, blending romance and science fiction, tells of a girl found as a baby amongst some bamboo. As she grows, she reveals that she is a Princess exiled from the Moon. Eventually her people come in their spacecraft to take her home. This is the earliest known story of extraterrestrials visiting the Earth. Many people could be forgiven for thinking that concepts such as voyages into space, time travel, robots and extraterrestrials started in the nineteenth century with the works of Jules Verne, HG Wells and other science fiction pioneers. In truth, however, these ideas have far earlier origins, dating back a thousand years and more, and this collection contains a number of early science fiction tales, including: The Dream of Scipio by Cicero True History (excerpt) by Lucian of Samosata Urashima Taro - Traditional The Ebony Horse - Traditional The City of Brass - Traditional The Tale of the Bamboo Cutter - Traditional Micromegas - Voltaire For more information on our early science fiction stories visit www.firestonebooks.com
