

Friends From 4 A.M.

Looking for tidy, feel-good stories? Try a sunshine hour. This is 4 a.m., habitat of subconscious absurdities and twisted scenarios that make perfect sense... for one hour. Daniel Cray's debut story collection includes: What About the Weather? An astrophysicist kidnaps his ill mother from the isolated mindset of a backwoods town. But her ex-husband is in hot pursuit, determined to conceal the reason Stuarts mother keeps asking about the weather. Cienega Mirth Silent film legend Lon Chaney built an isolated cabin deep in the woods a cabin that's now abandoned. Or is it? Paul Revere A grieving father with a fist-sized hole in his head makes a desperate attempt to sound the alert about a deadly threat the rest of us can't or won't see. Eternal Christmas The centuries-old inspiration for Santa Claus returns with dark secrets, family baggage and a tantalizing opportunity to give people an annual reunion with deceased loved ones. Plus three other tales including The Stewards, a Writers Digest short story contest winner.
